Professional Profile

A problem solver.

'BSc (Hons) holding full-stack software developer with experience in providing clean, modular code with a critical eye for details and refinement. A confident good-humoured professional, with a positive, proactive approach to their work.'

When it comes to new and innovative ideas, stepping out of my comfort zone is something I can do with excitement and ease. I develop my skills on my own time and through my own initiative and curiosity of new technologies. Working in multidisciplinary teams where I can draw from the experience of those around me is what I find most appealing in starting a new project.
